1.0 Introduction

Bleadon Parish Council has undertaken through its corporate strategy to 'communicate consult and engage'. The purpose of this policy is therefore to set out how the Council intends to achieve this and develop and improve its communications in the future.

Current communications include press releases the website a quarterly newsletter consultation including interaction with the electorate on council documents and Annual Report.

The overall aim is to make Council communications a two-way process to give people the information to understand accurately what we do while also enabling the Council to make informed decisions using information received from residents and partners.

2.0 Communication

2.1 Why is communication important?

Local government communications have over the past few years increasingly focused on reputation. Improved communications lead to recognition and respect – reputation does matter. Many councils fail to effectively communicate who they are and what they do – and the less people know about an organisation the less likely they are to rate it highly.

The Parish Council through good communication will understand and better meet the needs of the community whilst also raising the profile of the village and the Parish Council

Good communications will enable the Council to:

- better understand the needs of the community and develop appropriate strategies and priorities
- raise residents' satisfaction trust and confidence by communicating about services provided by the Council.
- raise the profile of Bleadon as a destination
- attract businesses/employment to the village
- make best use of technology to innovate and engage with hard-to-reach groups such as young people
- proactively challenge inaccuracies and misrepresentations that might undermine the brand image or integrity of the Council

2.2 What should we be communicating?

There are two methods of communicating:

- Proactive – informing residents of relevant parish matters
- Reactive – giving residents information they have requested

Research by MORI an independent research organisation and the Local Government Association suggests that the most important drivers of council reputation among local residents are:

- perceived quality of services overall
- perceived value for money
- media coverage
- direct communications
- council performance
- a clean, green and safe environment
- positive experiences of contact with council employees

If a council is to build a strong reputation effectively inform residents engage and improve customer satisfaction then these drivers must form the basis of its proactive and reactive communications.

2.3 Who should we be communicating with?

The Council's audiences are wide and varied but will typically include:

- Residents
- Parish Council staff
- Hard-to-reach groups, including young people
- The media
- Higher tier authorities
- Voluntary groups and organisations
- The business community
- MP & MEP's
- Other public sector organisations (police, health, fire)
- Visitors and those who work in the area

2.4 How should we be communicating?

The Council will ensure that information is easily accessible relevant and timely and recognises the importance of communication and commits to meet the expectations of the community it serves.

Different forms of communication will appeal to different age's, social groups and demographics so it is important to ensure that within reason all options for increasing communication and participation are considered in order to communicate effectively with everyone.

The advances made in information technology offer exciting new ways of communicating. At the same time, for many people traditional methods – newspapers, telephone, and leaflets – still play a fundamental role that must not be undervalued.

Currently communication is achieved through:

- Press releases
- The quarterly magazine 'Bleadon Village News'
- The Council's website
- Council agenda papers/correspondence
- The Annual Report
- Customer service
- Councillor interaction
- Issue specific consultation
- Occasional attendance at the monthly Village Market

Ways in which communication could be improved:

- Improved visibility of the Council and its activities by more frequent reporting
- Manage local media more effectively by proactive use of a template press release document to reduce factual errors in reporting.
- Improve the Council's website to make it more user friendly including capturing data for a communication database
- More frequent and effective use of social media
- Better promotion of the Council's online presence
- Regular consultation with the community and feedback to them on subsequent analysis including actions resulting from the consultation. i.e. You said this and We did that.

2.4.1 Press - manage the media more effectively

The media plays a strong role in shaping perceptions of local government so informed reporting is vital.

The Communities and Local Government report found people were most positive about their council in areas where the council had a good relationship with the local media. Whilst good relationships already exist there is always room for improvement.

All communication to the media by Councillors in their Bleadon Parish Council role must be sent to the Parish Clerk for approval.

Key points for effective management of media relations:

- Respond to journalists in full within a reasonable time
- Be helpful, polite and positive
- Never say “no comment”
- Ensure all statements or responses to hostile enquiries are cleared by the Parish Clerk
- Evaluate media coverage
- Issue timely and relevant press releases
- Pre-empt potential stories arising from Council agendas/minutes by issuing proactive PR (where possible)
- Ensure all media contact is with the Parish Clerk as per Standing Orders.

2.4.2 Online presence - Improve the Council's website

The Council's website is being updated and a long-term programme of improvement has been planned.

2.4.3 More frequent and effective use of social media

The future use of Facebook and Twitter is under review.

2.4.4 Public Consultation - Carry out regular and effective consultation

At present most of the Council's consultation is by way of occasional questioning on specific subjects and members interaction with the public.

The consultations need to be developed in such a way that there is an opportunity for all members of the community to engage in the process. Therefore an analysis of the format of this consultation needs to be undertaken including:

- Who – develop an understanding of the demographics of the community
- How - establish ways of communicating with each of these that best encourages their engagement in the process
- What – consider what information is required and develop relevant means of achieving this whilst still being appropriate, accessible and engaging
- Where – define the best locations for accessing and engaging with the different groups identified
- When – develop a timetable for the consultation process including when it is intended to hold consultation 'events'

2.5 Who (from the Council) should be communicating?

It is imperative that

- all communication from the Council is courteous, timely, professional, appropriate, and reflects the decisions and policies of the Council;
- all individuals communicating on behalf of the Council are aware that every piece of communication reflects on the reputation of the Council in the community; and
- no Councillor makes, or could be presumed to be making, a decision alone.

Staff and Councillors are ambassadors of the Council and must remember this in all communications.

2.5.1 Council staff

Parish Council staff communicate on a regular basis with members of the community and outside bodies under the direction of the parish clerk who has overall responsibility for all communication.

Written communication: all staff with administrative duties will be provided with a Council email address which is to be used solely for the purpose of conducting Council business.

Staff are required to include a 'signature' as part of all email communication so that their name, position and contact information is provided.

When in doubt about how to respond to an enquiry the guidance of the parish clerk will be sought.

Verbal communication: all staff will be required to communicate on a regular basis with the community as part of their duties. It is imperative that staff handle all such communication with courtesy and professionalism at all times.

Any staff member who is unsure of how to handle difficult, angry or vexatious complainants will be provided with the necessary training to ensure a positive outcome from such situations.

2.5.2 Councillors

Elected members will be regularly approached by members of the community as this is part of their role. How enquiries from the public are dealt with by Councillors will reflect on the Council. Enquiries may be in person, by telephone, letter or email.

At no time should Councillors make any promises to the public about any matter raised with them other than to promise to investigate the matter. All manner of issues may be raised many of which may not be relevant to the parish Council. Depending on the issue raised it may be appropriate to deal with the matter in the following ways:

- refer the matter to the parish clerk who will then deal with it as appropriate
- request an item on a relevant agenda
- investigate the matter personally having sought the guidance of the parish clerk.

All communication must be responded to and the correspondent kept apprised of progress. The procedure for doing so is as follows:

- having received an enquiry/complaint, the Councillor should acknowledge receipt (if in writing) and advise of what action is intended to be taken;
- advise when that action has been taken and what to expect next (ie a response is now awaited from a third party; and
- report back on the outcome of the enquiry or ensure that either the third party or the parish clerk will/has report(ed) back on the matter.

Councillors must ensure that all communication with the public on Council-related matters reflects the decisions and policies of the Council regardless of the Councillors own views on any subject. Any and all enquires by the media should be referred immediately to the parish clerk.

3.0 Evaluation

It is extremely important that the Council measures the success of this strategy so that it may inform any future plan.

What communication improvements can we measure?

- Media's assessment of Bleadon Parish Council's communication coverage
- Raised awareness of the Parish Council and the services it provides
- Attitudes of all stakeholders towards Bleadon Parish Council
- Participation and engagement with Council projects, initiatives and consultation processes
- Increased attendance to Public meeting and organised events.

How will we do this?

- Consultation with residents – perception and satisfaction surveys
- Measure press coverage for saturation and against press releases for content usage
- Hits on website
